

ABSTRACT

An integrated circuit comprising a processor and non-volatile memory, the non-volatile memory storing a first number and a second number, wherein the second number is the result of an encryption function taking a third number and secret information as operands, the integrated circuit comprising software configured to decrypt
5 the second number using the first number, thereby to determine the secret information as required.